

STUDY: The Washington Coastal Corridor,
US 101 Corridor Master Plan

COMPLETED: March 1997

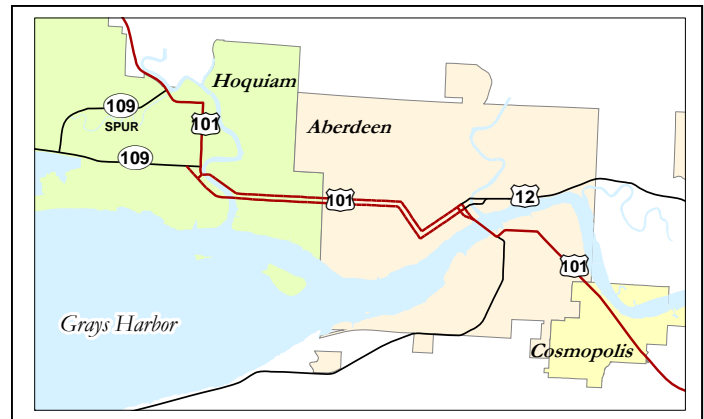

PURPOSE:

The Coastal Corridor is the US 101 right-of-way as it runs between the coastline and the Olympic Mountains, around the Olympic Peninsula to the southern reaches of Puget Sound. The central goal of the Master Plan is to facilitate a world-class traveling experience while balancing the needs of communities and the general public who rely on the Corridor.

RECOMMENDATIONS:

- Interpretative strategies such as kiosks, interpretive pull outs and signs directing travelers to museums, lighthouses, historic homes and businesses.
- Enhance vegetation where the highway passes through developed areas such as Aberdeen, Hoquiam, and Cosmopolis.

STUDY AREA

US 101 in Washington. This project focuses on the portions of US 101 in Aberdeen, Hoquiam, and Cosmopolis.
